MISS AMERICA TAKES UP RIDING

Two days after singing the National Anthem at International Polo Palm Beach two Sundays ago, Miss America Katie Stam was invited by Tommy Lee and Dawn Jones to take her first ride on a horse. Sitting on Big Easy, one of Jeff Blake's younger horses, Katie seemed to enjoy herself very much and decided upon leaving Florida that her next move would be to buy a horse. Above, Katie with the Blakes' farm dog Elvis, and far right modeling last week in Wellington. (ph Frederic Roy) please turn to page 5

WSJ. & TURKS + CAICOS PRIVATE BRUNCH AT INTERNATIONAL POLO CLUB

Last Sunday, February 22, WSJ. Magazine and Turks & Caicos Tourism Board celebrated their partnership with an elegant private brunch, which took place during the Iglehart Cup Final at The International Polo Club Palm Beach.

The brunch was held under a private tent overlooking the polo field where guests had the best view of the match.

Over 70 club members attended this memorable event where they indulged in a gourmet breakfast buffet, raw bar & mimosa cocktails. The private tent was enhanced with co-branded welcome signs and cocktail napkins as well as an array of Turks & Caicos literature and WSJ. Magazines.

The highlight of the afternoon was having Mr. Caesar Campbell, Director, Turks & Caicos Tourism Board, officiate the finals by conducting the coin toss mid-field in front of a packed stadium of polo aficionados.

Each guest went home with a gift bag that contained a Turks & Caicos Destination coffee table book & DVD, WSJ leather passport case, Polo Club branded polo ball & an issue of WSJ.

This opportunity allowed Turks & Caicos Tourism Board to entertain an elite guest list of members at the club as well as offer WSJ client, Turks & Caicos, with an exclusive added-value opportunity.

INTERSCHOLASTIC/COLLEGE POLO

Saturday the Vero Beach Interscholastic team, Julia Ancey, Amelia Strazulla and Danika Rice (female intercollegiate player of the year and captain of the UC Davis team 2006) played the University of Michigan women's collegiate team, Olivia Fajen, Dani Rewitzer, Julia Schroeder, in the El Sur polo arena in Wellington today. Although the first chukker ended with 0 to Vero and 3 to U of M, Danika coached the Vero girls on how to attack defensively along the boards and they came back to a very competitive game score of 8 University of Michigan 5 Vero Beach. Arena polo is vastly different from grass polo from the strategy right down to the rules and penalty shots. Morgan Bowman, Gianni Ferringio and Sarah McCain had an opportunity to play against the University of Michigan men's team (Muhammad Raza, Oleg Kolbasov and coach Colin McCosh following the Varsity game. JB Olinger, the guest pro and coach of the Vero team scored a 2 pointer to bring the final score to a tie. The Vero girls have been invited back to play again next week against the Michigan State Collegiate team. Collegiate polo is played in an arena on donated horses throughout colleges across the U.S. Call Kym Symes at the USPA for more information on Collegiate Polo 800-232-8772
